

THE CRESCENT CITY NEWS.

Crescent City

is one of the most beautiful locations in Florida. The town is in the southernmost part of Putnam county, 5 miles from Palatka, and is a beautiful spot of clear water 15 miles in length and from three to five miles in width. The water is so clear that the bottom of the lake is visible from the shore. The level of Lake Stella is 45 feet higher than that of Lake Crescent, thus affording perfect drainage. The water of Lake Stella is pure and is used for drinking purposes. The Plant System Railway touches the west bank of Lake Stella two miles from the town and a little steamer carries passengers and freight to and from the town and Crescent City Junction, the railway station.

The trip by steamer from Palatka or Jacksonville, via the whole country, and the passenger who knows this trip is held in high esteem. At Palatka, a point one mile south of Palatka, the steamer leaves for Crescent City. The trip is a very pleasant one, and the water is so clear that the bottom of the lake is visible from the shore. The level of Lake Stella is 45 feet higher than that of Lake Crescent, thus affording perfect drainage. The water of Lake Stella is pure and is used for drinking purposes. The Plant System Railway touches the west bank of Lake Stella two miles from the town and a little steamer carries passengers and freight to and from the town and Crescent City Junction, the railway station.

Parties in Crescent City desiring to subscribe for this paper or wishing to renew their subscriptions thereto, may leave their names and money with Mr. E. M. Loomis at the postoffice, who is our authorized agent.

Personal and Social.

Miss Elizabeth Close has returned from New York city.

Dr. H. C. Welch was in New York city at last reports.

J. P. Cowburn expects to make several shipments of fruit this week.

Capt. J. V. Miller is shipping some very pretty grape fruit this week.

Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Neal attended the Fruitland camp meeting last Sunday.

W. B. Campbell has returned from a brief visit with friends in North Carolina.

Mrs. C. H. Cash and Miss Sarah Anderson spent Friday of last week in Palatka.

Drs. E. E. Jenkins and A. M. Steen of Palatka were each here on professional business last week.

Miss Nellie Newbold visited the family of Horace Prior, at Lake Como, several days last week.

Mrs. and Mrs. R. B. Bethel have returned from a long visit with relatives and friends in North Carolina.

R. O. Burton is building an addition to his residence. The work is being done by W. S. Newbold and S. E. Neal.

Mrs. S. B. Shaw returned on the steamer Crescent Saturday evening from a business trip of several days in Jacksonville.

People who know good sugar cane say that Darling Varnes has the best patch that has been raised in this section in many years.

Chas. B. Morrow is never optimistic, but he says that over 20,000 boxes of oranges will be shipped from Crescent City next year.

The Robinson grove over in the McGrady neighborhood is one of the best groves anywhere around. Considerable fruit will be shipped from it this year.

Will Maull arrived on Tuesday of last week for a long visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Maull. His home has been in New York city for the past several years.

Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Prevatt, of Seville, were in town last Saturday. Mr. Prevatt says that the farmers on the east side of Lake Louisa are going to make the best crop of potatoes in many years.

Frank Gautier has rented the J. R. Hill residence on Prospect street, and his family will occupy the same early next month, or as soon as Mr. Anderson can get into his own new home.

Mrs. Reginald of Massachusetts arrived here last week and will spend the winter with her daughter, Mrs. E. L. Waterman. Mrs. Reginald spent the winter here several years ago, and is therefore no stranger to our people.

Mrs. Elizabeth Samos who recently purchased the property of Mrs. C. Smith just southwest of the town, will have the old house torn down and in its place will erect a neat five room cottage. She expects to improve the place and make it her permanent home.

The approaches to Hubbard park have all been raked clean of leaves.

Let everybody in Crescent City and on the peninsula do all in their power to get together a creditable exhibit for the state fair. The county agents for the fair will be here Friday morning.

The Carrier boys shipped 60 boxes of oranges from their grove down the Crescent lake shore last Monday. There are probably 200 more boxes on the trees. This little grove, best known as the Bishop & Carrier grove, is one of the prettiest small properties on the lake shore, and in another year will be a prolific bearer.

After her arrival here next Saturday evening the steamer Crescent will immediately return to Palatka. It will go on the way for a week. Parties having business with the boat should make a note of this. During the week that the Crescent is laid up many needed improvements will be made.

Quite a large crowd of Crescent City people attended the camping-out at Fruitland last Sunday, among the number being Hon. J. H. Harp and family, K. M. White, E. D. Jounds, Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Johnson, Mrs. W. D. Benham, Mrs. J. C. Grimsley, Miss May Hutchinson, Miss Nellie Newbold, and many others whose names the News did not obtain.

The Ladies of the Village Improvement Association have had the grounds around their Central avenue property cleared and placed in first-class shape for the winter. If the association never did another thing for the town than to set this good example to property owners, it would be sufficient to entitle it to a voice and a respectful hearing in matters municipal—but the association will do more.

Messrs. Maxon, Geo. Neal, Jas. Padgett Jr. and others went over the lake one night last week after deer. Early the next morning they were rewarded by the sight of a big buck, weighing considerably over 100 pounds. A shot from Mr. Neal's gun brought the animal low. James Padgett went to the same place on Friday night and succeeded in getting another.

Mrs. Ezra Brown was entertained at dinner last Saturday by Mrs. A. B. Torrey. Mrs. Brown formerly lived at Grovesdale and with her husband and sons was well known to all our old settlers. She is here for the winter, and at present is stopping with Mrs. A. J. Smith, of Huntington. Mr. Brown died last year as the result of an accident, in Massachusetts.

Colored Baptist church workers held a two days convention at Jethro Baptist church last Saturday and Sunday with some 15 or 20 delegates from abroad present. The convention raised considerable money with which to defray college expenses of young men who have a call to church and missionary work. The church is located at San Mateo by Rev. J. H. Newman, was made the official organ of the convention.

Maj. W. L. Glessner, land commissioner of the G. S. & F. R'y. and Mr. F. H. Hafer, special commissioner appointed by the board of county commissioners to take charge of the work of arranging an exhibit for Putnam county at the state fair, are due to arrive in Crescent City at night in the interest of such an exhibit. They will spend Friday morning in town, and all who can assist in the work should see them.

There are whisperings that the stork has been seen hovering over Crescent City a great deal lately, and those who have paid attention to the gestulations of this long rubber-necked bird are predicting that before he is through with the town stockmen will no longer question but that our population is sufficient to put us out of the bog-roaming class, and that Dr. Sprague will not be compelled to annex Rossville to keep the population above the 500 limit.

Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Payson and the children returned last week from a six months' visit to their old home in Attleboro, Mass. Mr. Payson says that all have enjoyed the summer very much, but that they are well pleased to be back in Crescent City.

As illustrating what visitors think of Crescent City, Mr. Payson tells the following story: "A part of Main street, Attleboro, is very beautiful with its pretty lawns, its shade trees and numerous stately residences. I was more than ever attracted by the beauty of this street during the past summer, and made frequent strolls along its shady walks. Fred Torrey, knowing my weakness for the beauty of this street, frequently tried to get me to say that there was nothing about Crescent City to quite equal it. I would not, however, gratify him by such an admission. One day Torrey, Tom Carpenter and myself were walking along this street and Torrey again tried to get me to make the admission, but instead, I appealed to Mr. Carpenter to decide. Well," said that gentleman, "I have often tried to get mother to admit that our Main street is more beautiful than anything in Crescent City. The nearest I ever came to it was one day recently, when, as we were walking along she said: 'I don't know, Tom; seems to me that I never saw anything look quite as beautiful as Crescent City did the morning I left there.' Of course, the laugh was then on Fred Torrey."

Cleanings.

Take Up the Slack.

Stonewall Jackson had small mercy on the soldier whom he caught straggling, but is said to have laughingly condoned one instance. During a forced march in the summer of 1862 he stopped to consult with one of his general officers. The entire command had been passed, and as Jackson and his officers rode forward to rejoin the column the former discovered a private up a persimmon tree. Asked by the commander why he was so far in the rear, the private replied:

"Eatin' 'emmons." "Persimmons!" roared Jackson. "Why, they're not even ripe yet." "Like 'em green just now," explained the soldier.

"And why?" asked Jackson, softening a little with amusement at the fellow's laconic answer.

"To draw my linards up to fit my rations," was the answer.—Philadelphia Ledger.

A Moral Snafu on an Experiment. "She seems to have abandoned her moral experiments relative to the training of children."

"She has." "How did it happen?" "Well, I was largely instrumental in bringing about the change. You see, she has no children of her own and I grew weary of her constant preaching and theorizing, so I loaned her our Willie."

"Loaned her your boy?" "Precisely. She was to have him a week on her solemn promise to confine herself entirely to moral snafus."

"Did she keep her promise?" "She did, but at the expiration of the week she came to me with tears in her eyes and pleaded for permission to 'whale him just once.'"

Monument to a Preacher. Recently and the last of his family, Capt. W. Norton, of Louisville, Ky., has erected a costly granite monument in Cave Hill cemetery, Louisville, to the memory of Rev. Dr. Jno. A. Broadus, famous deceased president of the Southern Baptist theological seminary. The shaft bears this touching inscription:

The Gentleness of the Lamb, The Wisdom of Solomon, The Earnestness of the Apostle, A Saint in Israel, To Him This Shaft is Raised to Stand While Time Lasts to Mark His Grave—The Last of a Mortality.

Mausoleum of Esteem and Veneration for His Memory by "The Last Leaf of the Tree" of the W. F. Norton Family.

Christianity and Judaism. Rev. Dr. R. S. MacArthur, of New York, John D. Rockefeller's pastor, said the other day:

"I sometimes regret that Christians were ever given that name. Had the name 'Messiah'—if I may coin the word—been given to them, the gift between Jews and Christians might have been much narrower. The two stand so close in God's book that they ought to stand closer together in life. Many of our prejudices and bigotries come chiefly from ignorance, and when we come to know more of each other, we find that there is no more any one than we had supposed. True, Judaism and true Christianity are not opposite. Judaism is the root and trunk, Christianity the flower and fruit."

Remarques Who Are Never Kissed. A remarkable case comes from the city of Prague in Bohemia, where a certain farmer's wife has just passed away after having been married for fifteen years to the partner of her joys and sorrows without exchanging a single embrace during the period of her widowhood.

It appears that the deceased was mourning the loss of her first husband when sought by the farmer in marriage, and she accepted his suit on the express understanding that he would neither kiss nor embrace any more (so the report says) in the pleasant practice of kissing.

One calls to mind in this connection the tiny colony formed some years ago in South America, the members of which colony pledged themselves to abstain from all marital embraces.

Furthermore, it may be pointed out that in the land of the "Jap," the kissing of a husband by his wife is practically unknown, and the Japanese spouse would in all probability regard such an act as an insult of the most offensive description.—N. Y. News.

CAUTION! This is not a gentle word—but when you think how liable you are to be cured for the only remedy universally known and a remedy that has had the largest sale of any medicine in the world since 1868 for the cure and treatment of consumption and throat and lung troubles without losing its great popularity all these years, you will be charmed that we called your attention to Boschee's German Syrup. There are so many ordinary cough remedies made by druggists and others that are cheap and good for light colds, perhaps, but for severe coughs, bronchitis, croup, and especially for consumption, where there is danger of expectation, and coughing during the nights and mornings, there is nothing like German Syrup. Sold by all druggists in the civilized world. You can get this reliable remedy at Lounds' drug store, Crescent City, G. G. GREEN, Woodbury, N. J.

Reflections of a Bachelor.

When a woman has company it is a reception if all the gas jets are lighted.

It is very hard for a modest girl to prove she is not bow-legged.

It is the careful wife who wakes a man out of a deep sleep to ask him if there is anything she can do to make him sleep comfortably.—N. Y. Press.

Pointed Paragraphs. Telephone girls never invite you to call again.

If we could see ourselves as others see us mirrors would be a drug on the market.

If there is such a thing as poetry of motion the kangaroo must be in the spring poem class.

You may drive a horse to water, but you cannot make him drink, and you may drive a man to drink but you cannot make him take water.—Chicago News.

It Rattled the Dean. One of the clergymen who was present at the opening of the General Theological seminary was speaking of the bashfulness of the late Dean Hoffman.

"The dean," said the clergyman, "was called upon to speak at a mass meeting held in the interests of a cause which received many benefactions from him. He spoke briefly of the merits of the cause, and then said, apologetically:

"I am not much of a speaker." "Amn!" responded a Methodist brother from the first row.

"The dean, somewhat disconcerted, continued a while, and then said: 'I'll detain you only a moment longer.'"

"Alfred!" again broke in the man in the front row, and the dean sat down very red in the face, but he enjoyed it all hugely when he learned afterward that the man in the front row was very deaf and had interpreted his appropriation entirely on faith, not on hearing.—New York Times.

Killed the Baby After Father Shot a Black Cat. LeRoy Thomas Eisenhower, the 3-year-old child of John Eisenhower, which is supposed to have died from a witch's spell, was buried today. The entire neighborhood is excited over the affair as several deaths which have occurred in the vicinity recently are attributed to the same cause.

In this region there are many persons who have a strong belief in the existence of witches.

Mrs. Eisenhower says the witch had been working on her child almost since his birth. "During this time," she continued, "the child suffered tortures, and was afflicted with all kinds of aches and pains. An old woman stopped in front of the house about six weeks ago to see the baby, and since then its sufferings have been intense. The neighbors said that Thomas was bewitched. I did all I could to break the spell. I had the baby 'powwowed' 18 times, and took it to the most famous witch doctor in this section. He said my child was bewitched, and gave me a card which the baby wore pinned to its breast until it died. Then I buried it in my back yard."

The witch story has been widely circulated in the northeastern section of the city. Mothers call their child into the house from play whenever an old woman who looks as if she knew anything of the black art appears. Neighbors say the witch had been working on her child almost since his birth. "During this time," she continued, "the child suffered tortures, and was afflicted with all kinds of aches and pains. TERRIFIED BY A WOMAN IN BLACK. Fostoria, Ohio, has a sensation. For a week past a woman clad in black has been terrorizing other women residing on South Poplar, between Crocker and Tiffin streets. She is veiled and hides in the shadows of houses and trees, coming out at times and walking with women passers-by, neither speaking nor doing anything to them. Occasionally she takes hold of a woman's arm, talking with her victim until she is left in the dark with a shake of her head. She is evidently looking for someone, but has as yet failed in the search. This mysterious woman has evaded the police and has frightened the women in that neighborhood to such an extent that they will not venture out of doors after dark.

DINE NOVEL ROMANCE—William H. Pasquely, of Poughkeepsie, N. Y., and Miss Bertha Graham Stahlman, a pretty school teacher of Kinderhook, N. Y., were married in Kinderhook yesterday.

Two years ago Pasquely risked his life saving Miss Stahlman from being trampled to death under the hoofs of a team in Main street in this city. She had been knocked from her bicycle, and Pasquely rushed from the sidewalk and, seizing the young lady by the shoulders, dragged her out of danger. The wedding is the result.

ATTENDED HIS OWN FUNERAL—Returning to his home, in West Unity, Ohio, after an absence of 12 years, George Allen was greeted by a hearse and pallbearers prepared to receive his corpse.

Two George Allens were patients in a Chicago hospital. One died and the West Unity people were informed that their relative was the victim. A brother went to Chicago, but found his brother convalescing in another ward. The brother telegraphed home, "Coming with George," but this did not convince the West Unity folk, who feared to receive the news that their relative was the victim. MOTHERS Who would keep their children in good health, should watch for the first symptoms of worms, and remove them with White's Cream Vermifuge. It is the children's best tonic. It gets digestion at work so that their food does them good, and they grow up healthy and strong. 25c at Ackerman & Stewart's, Palatka; and Lounds' drug store, Crescent City.
